TO THE FARMERS OF VAN BUREN COUNTY.

GENTLEMEN—I take pleasure in bearing testimony to the courteous treatment and honorable and fair dealing which I have experienced at the hands of H. O. Beebe, Agent at Paw Paw, Mich., for the Agricultural Insurance Co., of Watertown, N. Y. My loss which occurred Sept. 27th, was settled and paid to my entire satisfaction on the 3d day of October, with no expense and no law suit.

An Honest Medicine Free of Charge.

Of all medicines advertised to cure any affection of the Throat, Chest or Lungs, we know of none we can recommend so highly as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Hoarseness, Tickling in the Throat, loss of voice, etc. This medicine does positively cure, and that where everything else has failed. No medicine can show more than so many positive and permanent cures as have already been effected by this truly wonderful remedy. For Asthma and Bronchitis it is a perfect specific, curing the very worst cases in the shortest time possible. We say by all means give it a trial. Trial bottles ten cents. Regular size $1.00. For sale by Duncombe, Stearns & Co., Paw Paw.

CATARH.—If anyone has had Catarrh they know how grateful is any relief from the pain and discomfort. Cases have been brought to our notice recently which were deemed beyond cure by Physicians, but which have been cured by Lawson's Catarrh. We can recommend this cure for Catarrh, not only for the cure it performs but the cleansing, healing properties it possesses and the ease with which it is administered. It is not only a Catarrh medicine, but for any inflammation, Sore Throat, or internal or external it is an excellent remedy.

AND STILL ANOTHER.

OWEGO, N. Y., July 18, 1878.
I take pleasure in testifying to the virtue of Edg. Cream Balm as a remedy and cure for Catarrh, and recommend it as the very best preparation in the market. In one week it opened a passage in one nostril which I have not breathed through in three years, subdued an inflammation in my head and throat, and relieved a dry cough, which was the result of the Catarrh.

There is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nephritis, the danger with Thomas' Electric Oil, a pulmonary acknowledged efficacy. It cures lameness and soreness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back, and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence. Read the advertisement.

Whole years of joy follow the wearing of DAY KIDNEY PAD, for a few weeks. For sale by G. W. Tyler & Co.

Never mind the quacks and their nostrums. For malaria, use Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

BUY ONLY THE GENUINE SINGER SEWING MACHINE.—The genuine SINGER has the Sewing Machine name on the arm of each machine, to wit: "The Singer Manufacturing Co." None others are genuine. Companies have sprung up all over the country, for making an imitation of the Singer machine. Why are not similar companies formed for making imitations of other sewing machines.

The public will draw its own inference. Gold is continually counterfeited. Brass and Tin never.

Blue Ribbon social at Town Hall this (Friday) evening. Mr. J. D. Allen's collection of animals, birds, insects and reptiles will be on exhibition; also, the mammoth grizzly bear recently killed by Mr. Fred Rawson in Colorado.

In this issue we commence the re-publication of a series of twenty-one chapters, written for the N. Y. Tribune by Col. W. M. Grovesnor, late editor of the St. Louis Democrat. The importance of this subject cannot be over-estimated. It is the leading issue of the approaching canvass and of the times, and should be studied by the people with care.

On Saturday last the officers of Paw Paw Lodge No. 37 Ancient Order of United Workmen, paid to Kate S. Davis, widow of Joseph W. Davis, deceased, the sum of two thousand dollars, that being the amount of insurance provided for each member of the order. Mr. Davis died in Kansas on the 14th of October last. He was formerly of Mattawan and joined the Lodge here in March 1878, shortly after its institution. The prompt payment of losses speaks well for the Society.

The generosity of some people is simply magnificent. One is, at times, overcome with the magnitude and self-sacrificing propensities of some individuals and associations. The most magnificent exhibition in that direction we have seen of late, is an offer of "The (N. Y.) Independent" to put us on their exchange list, if we will give them about TWELVE dollars worth of advertising in addition to our paper. Could candidity go much farther?

The Portland (Oregon) Daily Oregonian of Oct. 27th contains a lengthy account of the second annual exhibition of the Mechanics' Fair Association, which has just been held in that city. The attendance was very large, on one day alone the visitors numbering not less than six thousand. In mentioning the list of articles in the ladies' department, it says: "A very fine and beautiful wax cross is shown by Mrs. W. Scott Beebe, who also displays some finely made underwear for ladies."

Some of our readers will remember Mrs. Beebe as a former resident of this place.

Our neighbor Smith evidently has not got "Sul" Cook thoroughly trained yet; which fact will account for the set-back "Sul" gave him at Atlantis when these two delivered themselves of speeches at the newly named place some weeks since.

Some time previous Smith had held forth at the Bell school-house, and among other things said that to pay the interest on the national debt would require a train of wagons forty-three miles long, placed three rods apart, and each loaded with a ton of GOLD.

A man in the audience arose and said, "Smith, you are the greatest liar I ever heard of, and I will not stop to listen to any more such nonsense," and walked out.

Having "Sul" with him at Atlantis, Smith opened out and soon alluded to the school-house affair and said he "would now repeat the assertion, and would prove it by 'Sul' Cook whom he had brought there for that purpose," or words to that effect. "Sul" pulled his coat-tail and inquired what his statement was over at the Bell school-house. Smith repeated it; whereupon "Sul" remarked: "You can't prove any such damned nonsense by me. It's a damned lie." And so our friend was worse off than before. The boys took out their pencils and figured, and announced the result by a very prolonged, shrill whistle!

One day last week a couple of cusses entered the house of the School Assessor, about half a mile south of the village of Atlantis, in the absence of the family, and gave it a very thorough search for the apparent purpose of securing a little "swag" in the shape of some four or five hundred dollars in cash which the Assessor had in his possession at that time. The house was searched from cellar to garret, and everything overturned and examined—beds were hauled to pieces, bureau drawers and other receptacles ransacked, even to taking to pieces a sausage-cutter; but with all this painstaking labor they missed the booty. About a year ago the family lost a small child, and its clothing had been put away in a small top drawer to one of the bureaus in the house. In this the money had been placed, and was undisturbed. The scamps, however, secured twenty-five cents by breaking open a child's money-box. Two men were seen coming from the house by a neighbor.

Burglars broke into the store of J. S. Cowgill at Lawton last Saturday night, and took what money there was in the drawer. They then broke the lock of the postoffice door, but Rowley, who lives next door, woke up, and striking a light, the robbers ran. They then broke open the door of Desenberg's grocery, and being shot at by the clerk sleeping in the room, they ran. It would seem that they were intending to raid the stores of the village, as it was dark and a high wind raging at the time. It is also believed to be the work of tramps or traveling burglars. The night policeman was sound asleep.

We very respectfully take off our hat and ask the privilege of submitting a few items of passing interest, local to the people of this place, which we hope may find favor with the NORWICHIAN; if it is backed by the Hoopston Chronicle, so much the better. Variety is the spice of life—why not editors change as well as preachers?

The death of Mr. Ed. Cowgill caused much deep feeling, as his many good qualities and strict integrity caused him to be respected by all who knew him.

Among the enjoyable evenings the social at Mr. A. Harwick's takes a front rank, as all who have the pleasure of their acquaintance are aware.

There have been several changes of real estate, and that market seems more lively the past summer than for some time. Among them we notice the estate of H. Durkee has sold the house and lots west of the Post-office to E. Hope, and he now resides there. Mr. Libby has purchased the property known as the Labadie place, moved the house, built an addition, dug a well and moved on to the premises.

J. W. Travis has been obliged to do as C. F. Young did—hire new masons to finish his job, as the Swells' failed to live up to their contract. His building will soon be ready for business.

The social at Mrs. A. H. Youngs' on Tuesday evening was attended by quite a large and enjoyable company. Her rooms being large and pleasant, were very convenient for the exercises.

Quite a number have gone to Chicago to attend the oration.

Last Saturday was teachers' examination day. The exercises were conducted at the school house by Supt. Jay Rowe. From seven to nine teachers were present, besides a number of visitors. We think perhaps quite a company would have gathered, had it been generally understood that the exercises were to be oral. For several years past the questions and answers have been written out, and of course no one could be entertained save those interested. It seems to us that where several teachers are to be examined at once, the oral system is preferable, especially when the Supt. and teachers join in discussing the different methods of teaching. We were also interested in the experience of the different teachers in governing schools, and the various methods resorted to in order to overcome the most vexed difficulties of common schools. For so young a man, discharging such duties for the first time, it is conceded that Mr. Rowe exhibited much tact. He not only proved his ability to communicate knowledge but to assist others to do the same.

KEELER LOCALS.

From Our Own Correspondent.
The Cantata of Queen Esther has been rendered with very good success two evenings, 6th and 7th, at the M. E. church, under the leadership of Prof. J. F. Taylor, with all home talent.

On the evening of the 7th, while S. J. Evans and family were at the Cantata, some malicious person set his barn on fire, which was burned with all the contents, amounting to about $1000. Small insurance. A whisky ring is supposed to be at the bottom. Now the question lies right here—must a man endanger his life or property if he dare to protest against selling whisky unlawfully or to minors? Will not a just community sustain the right and set their faces on mass against an element that resorts to incendiarism for revenge? Let the offender be brought to speedy punishment, to serve as a warning to all would-be offenders in the future, and we would soon be law-abiding citizens.

If any lawyer or claim agent comes to you with a request for pay for helping get the "arrearages of pension" bill through Congress, turn him out doors and set the watch-dog on him. A donation was held at Joe Speicher's on Tuesday evening for the benefit of Elder Smith, of Bloomingdale. The total receipts were above forty dollars.

Joe Speicher has been having an experience with a dead beat lately. One put in an appearance at his place and claimed relationship through the name of Speicher. He boasted much of his riches which were deposited in a Grand Rapids bank, and pretended to want to purchase a farm. After much land looking and haggling over price he finally gave out that he would purchase the Ruggles farm, owned by ex-Sheriff Showerman. After engaging Joe to take him to Paw Paw to draw writings, he said he would go over to one of the neighbor's awhile. Joe says he stayed a long time, for he hasn't heard of him since; and now he is out just so much board bill.

Jim Dillon and C. W. Butterfield have a nice little law case before Justice Edgel on Tuesday next. Chancery claimed a walnut log by a gift from a neighbor and drew it on the road accordingly. Jim claimed the log by gift from the same man and drew it to the mill. Chancery drew the log on the roll-way, and Jim gobbled the lumber, ran it to Paw Paw and sold it. Jim has since paid the donor 50 cents as purchase money. Chancery claims that he cleared the land for it. Here is a chance for the lawyers.

GOBLEVILLE LOCALS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The citizens of Gobleville and vicinity enjoyed a rich treat on Sunday evening last, in the concert held by the Sunday school of this place. At an early hour the house began filling and at 7 o'clock, the time announced for commencing, every seat was occupied. Promptly on time the exercises were opened with a Greeting Glee, and this followed by the many well prepared, and as well executed, songs, recitations and essays. Entertainments of such high order as this cannot be given too often, and we sincerely hope that the above Sunday school will not be weary in well doing.

Died, at Moline, Mich., Oct. 31st, Mrs. Avis Webster, aged 77 years. The deceased was born in Washington county, N. Y., Oct. 15th, 1802. Was married to Jeremiah Webster, July 3d, 1831. His death took place Feb. 25th, 1878, and in the spring of 1866 she removed to Michigan and made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Laura Harmon, of Bloomingdale township, where she has since resided. At the time of her sickness and death she was with her son A. S. Webster, M. D., of Moline, having gone there intending to make a short visit. This sickness was long and severe, yet in the severest pain she exhibited that true christian spirit which characterized her life. For many years she had felt in her heart that her's was the promise "I am with you always," and at the hour of death, at "evening time, it was light."

From Another Correspondent.

An "Agricultural Number" of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

In addition to the usual variety in the contents of Scribner, the November issue contains a half dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers, and others interested in rural life: The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain, by P. T. Quinn; Farming in Kansas, by Henry King; Success with Small Fruits, by E. P. Roe; Rare Lawn-Trees, by Samuel Parsons Jr.; The Mississippi Jetties, and their effect on the prices of agricultural products, and How Animals Get Home, by Ernest Ingersoll. There are two fine portraits of Bayard Taylor—one engraved by Cole, from the best photograph, and the other a reproduction by Juengling, of O'Donovan's bronze bass-relief. These portraits accompany a discriminating critique of Taylor, by Steadman. Clarence Cook has a paper on Morris Moore's Old Masters, with a reproduction, by Cole, of Raphael's Apollo and Marsyas. There are Poems, Stories and Sketches: The French Quarter of New-York; Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond, with interesting reminiscences of Daniel Webster; a beautiful story, by Boyesen; an ingenious story, A Sign; the fourth part of Conscience, by Henry James, Jr., begun in August; and the first part of a new American novel of Creole life, The Grandmamas, by George W. Cable, of New Orleans, the author of Old Creole Days, which has created such an excellent impression in the literary world. The reign of Peter the Great, by Eugene Schuyler, is noted editorially. This splendid series of illustrated Historical Papers, the greatest work of the sort yet undertaken by any popular magazine, will begin in the January issue, and will continue for two years.

All that enterprise and skill can do will be done to maintain the position of SCRIBNER as the leading popular periodical of America. With the revival of the agricultural and business interests of the country, increased attention will be paid to papers on great public enterprises and interests, already a notable feature of the magazine.
